HARD FOUGHT GAME

Carolina Backfield Was Continually Working.

Quarterback Gooch, of Virginia, Was the Spectacular Player, and Managed His Team to Perfection—26 to 7.

Richmond, Va., Nov. 27.—The University of Virginia played true to form and tradition today by defeating the University of North Carolina in their annual football battle, by the score of 26 to 7. While the figures indicate that Carolina was outclassed, its backfield was continually working, and exceeded Virginia in the total number of yards gained from scrimmage. Twice during the game the team had the ball within Virginia's five-yard line, but failed to get it over. The feature was a sixty-yard run by Fuller, of Carolina, for the only touchdown, after intercepting a forward pass, in the third period, Tandy making the score 7 by kicking a beautiful goal.

Quarterback Gooch, for Virginia, was the big, spectacular player, during four hard-fought periods. With his team in wonderful shape, he sent the ball through and around the Carolina line, scoring in the first few minutes, and keeping it up to the end. Remarkably fine headwork was shown when the ball, in Virginia territory, was forced back within one yard of the goal.

Ten thousand people, the largest crowd ever attending a Thanksgiving game between the two universities, here, watched the struggle.

Line-up and summary:

Final score: Virginia, 26; Carolina, 7.

Texas Defeated.

Austin, Texas, Nov. 27.—Notre Dame defeated Texas today 29 to 7 by a combination of old style and new fashioned football. The undefeated Notre Dame eleven battered the Texas line until it was crumpled and exhausted and then opened up a series of forward passes and drop kicks which repeatedly turned into scores. Although Notre Dame backs plunged into the Texas line 77 times for a total of 248 yards, only one of their touchdowns was made by line plunging, and this after a forward pass had placed the ball on Texas' two-yard line. Notre Dame scored three touchdowns and three field goals, one of the touchdowns from a fake forward pass and another, in the last minute of play, when Mills, a tall substitute right end, out-leaped a Texas and caught a forward pass high in the air almost directly above the goal line. Quarterback Dorais, scored 17 of Notre Dame's points.

Both teams totalled 29 forward passes, Texas making six, two of them successful, for a total of 68 yards, and Notre Dame making 21, 10 of them successful for 200 yards.

Texas outplayed Notre Dame in two departments, end running and punting. The Texans' punting superiority was nullified by the diminutive but fleet Dorais. Texas tried 23 end runs for a total gain of 166 yards, against 22 for 96 yards by Notre Dame. Texas' one touchdown came on a forward pass which turned into a 60-yard gain.

Speedy Game.

Birmingham, Ala., Nov. 27.—Battling furiously the Mississippi Aggies triumphed over the Crimson eleven of Alabama State University on Rickwood field this afternoon, the final score being 7 to 0. From the opening whistle, the battle was stubbornly fought and after the first quarters neither team approached dangerously near the other's goal.

Cornell Won from Pennsy.

Philadelphia, Nov. 27.—Cornell closed her erratic season this afternoon by defeating the University of Pennsylvania for the second time in the 21 years the two teams have met in football contests. The score was 21 to 0.

With the exception of presenting and forward passing Cornell showed superiority in every department of the game. Her ability to advance the ball through the line and her quickness in fathoming Pennsylvania's intricate plays surprised the followers of the Quakers.

Cornell played a powerful offensive game in the first period, the New York State eleven scoring two touchdowns. Getting the ball in about midfield, Cornell twice took it over by straight football smashes against Pennsylvania's center and tackles, and by short dashes outside of tackles. The second touchdown was made on more or less of a freak play. Cornell had taken the ball to the 10-yard line, where Barrett tried a field goal. He booted the ball low and it struck several Pennsylvania players and bounded over the goal line, where a Cornell man fell upon it. The final touchdown came toward the end of the last period.

5,000 See Game.

Bristol, Va., Nov. 27.—Over 5,000 people saw Roanoke College defeat King College this afternoon by the score of 20 to 7 and thereby having the distinction of being the champions of Southwest Virginia.

King College scored the first touchdown, as a result of Roanoke's fumble and two forward passes. Roanoke scored a touchdown in the first, second and third quarters, respectively. Anspach in the bunting starred for Roanoke, while Vance and Fain played a strong game for King.

Presbyterians Win.

Charlotte, N. C., Nov. 27.—Superior aggressiveness, resulting from a slightly stronger team, gave Davidson one touchdown on Wake Forest this afternoon and won 6 to 0. Had the Presbyterians used less spirit in slugging, which produced penalties, it is likely they would hove scored a gain. In only one department did Wake Forest show class. Savage, Baptist, full back, gained 15 to 20 yards on every exchange of punts.

Leave for New York.

Annapolis, Md., Nov. 27.—With the cheers of the brigade of midshipmen ringing in their ears, the Naval Academy football team and substitutes, 35 in number, left Annapolis this afternoon for New York, where they will meet the Army cadets Saturday afternoon.

In Far Away Genoa.

Genoa, Nov. 27.—A football match at the stadium today between teams from the United States battleships Connecticut and Kansas attracted a great crowd, including many Italian military officers. The Connecticut men won the game by a score of 17 to 6.

Rear Admiral Frank E. Beatty, commander of the fourth division of the Atlantic fleet, was presented with a gold medal as a memento of the occasion and 22 gold medals were presented to the players.

Good Game at Pittsburg.

Pittsburg, Nov. 27.—The University of Pittsburg today defeated Penn State College 7 to 6 in their annual Thanksgiving day football contest. It was a pretty game throughout, neither team having an advantage, and both playing the best brand of football seen here this season.

V. P. I. and V. M. I.

Roanoke, Va., Nov. 27.—The football elevens of Virginia Polytechnic Institute and Virginia Military Institute fought a brilliant and desperate 60 minutes to a 6 to 6 tie here this afternoon. V. M. I. started the game with a rush that netted them a touchdown and for a time seemed to have their opponents completely outclassed. Late in the game, however, V. P. I. rallied, and forced the ball across the Cadets' goal. Numerous substitutions were made by Polytechnic, and their strength told against the tired military institute players.

oF rthe Love O' Mike.

St. Louis, Nov. 27.—The Syracuse University football team this afternoon literally carried the St. Louis team, first across one-half the gridiron and then across the other half, defeating the locals 75 to 0.

Surprised at Nashville.

Nashville, Tenn., Nov. 27.—Vanderbilt today sprung the biggest surprise of the local football season by winning from Sewanee 63 to 13. After the first quarter the Commodores literally overwhelmed the defense of the purple Tigers by a bewildering attack employing intricate but perfectly executed trick formations.

Vanderbilt scored its first touchdown in the opening period, came back with two more in the second, three in the third and four in the last. Only three goals were kicked from the Commodores' 10 touchdowns.

Sewanee was effective only in the first quarter when the Tigers outplayed Vanderbilt in every department of the game, scoring two touchdowns.

W. & L. OUTCLASSED

A. & M. Made Great Opening Through the Line.

Riddick Made Winning Possible for Carolinians by Long Run— Tenney Carried Ball Over for Only Score.

Norfolk, Va., Nov. 27.—North Carolina (A. & M.) defeated the Washington and Lee University here this afternoon by a score of 6 to 0. The A. & M. outclassed Washington and Lee from the start. The North Carolinians made great openings in the Virginians' line and gained around their ends, while Washington and Lee could do little with the defense of A. & M. Almost every attempt at the forward pass failed. The only score was made in the last quarter, when after a long run by Riddick, Tenney carried the ball over from the two and a half-yard line. Von Brocklin failed at the goal.

The line-up follows:

W. & L.	Position	A. & M.
Barker	LE	McDougal
Neblett	LG	McHenry
Miles (Capt.)	LT	Hurtt
Barrow	C	Plyler
Miller	RG	G. H. Anthony
Shultz	RT	Winston
Hiatt	RE	Ferderber
Donahue	QB	Von Brocklin
Lile	LH	Tenney
Buehring	FB	Riddick
Young	RH	Sullivan

WON BY TRICK PLAYS

Ultimate Result Plainly Indicated From Opening.

Clemson Came Near Scoring in Last Few Minutes of Play—Ball in Six Inches of Line When Time Was Called.

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 27.—Literally smothering Clemson beneath a puzzling mass of trick plays, Georgia Tech today won the annual battle here from its traditional rivals from South Carolina by a score of 34 to 0.

From the opening scrimmage the ultimate result was plainly indicated. The Clemson forwards, although possessed of a slight advantage in weight, apparently were unable to solve the Yellow Jocket plays quickly enough to break them up. Five touchdowns were made by Tech, goals being kicked from four of them.

The weather was unsually warm and this, to a great extent influenced the game. Tech employed many substitutes, while Clemson to a great extent was forced to employ its tired players throughout the game.

Tech began its scoring early, after Clemson fumbled in the first scrimmage and a Yellow Jacket player fell on the ball. A trick formation netted Tech 20 yards and Cook was sent around left end for a touchdown. A few minutes later Tech's second touchdown resulted from a double pass to Montague. A gain in the second quarter Tech advanced to within striking distance of the goal by a 30-yard forward pass, Fielder then being sent around left end for a touchdown. In the second half the brilliant broken field work of Fielder was responsible for two more touchdowns. In the third quarter the fleet Yellow Jacket ran through the entire Clemson team and in the last period he skirted Clemson's end for 40 yards.

Clemson came near scoring in the last few minutes of play, fierce charges by Webb and Logan carrying the ball to within six inches of the goal Before it could be pushed over, however, time was called.

Dr. Wm. H. Milton, rector of St. James' Episcopal church.

The immense congregation that filled the auditorium of the church represented all walks of life. There were hundreds of close personal friends of the deceased who during the long term of years that he had lived in Wilmington had become intimately acquainted with him in a social way. Prominent business men and high officials of the Atlantic Coast Line were in attendance to pay tribute to a man whom they had learned to admire for his many splendid traits of character. In the congregation also were many employes of the Atlantic Coast Line in the humbler positions.

The different departments of the Atlantic Coast Line sent designs while others came from the higher officials. A special train from the North yesterday brought a car almost entirely filled with the floral designs from friends of the family residing in Northern cities.

HENNESSY IN THE ASPHALT TROUBLE

Investigator and Sulzer Both Mentioned in Charge.

WANTS AN INVESTIGATION

Claim Made That Both of Them Received Money Through the McGuire Brothers From Asphalt Company.

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 27.—The charges filed against State Highway Commissioner John N. Carlisle, by the Warner Quinlan Asphalt Co., and his answer thereto were made public tonight by Governor Glynn.

Carlisle's accusers averred he discriminated against them in laying down specifications for asphalt to be used on State highways in order to favor the Barber Asphalt Paving Co., held secret meetings with agents of the company for the purpose of conspiring against other asphalt manufacturers, wasted thousands of dollars in employing incompetent engineers as road experts and threw the highway department into a state of chaos.

The commissioner's reply was a general denial of the accusations. They were inspired, he said, by chagrined manufacturers who had failed in an effort to foist on his department "just as good" asphalt for that designated in the specifications.

The name of John A. Hennessy, formerly a special investigator in the highway department, appeared unexpectedly in the formal charges. To him was attributed the sending of a telegram to highway contractors last July 5th, notifying them that they must use Barber asphalt. This telegram was alleged to have followed a meeting in Cooperstown between Governor Sulzer, Carlisle, George McGuire, an agent for the Barber company, and others.

Allegation further was made that two days after Hennessy was appointed on June 16th, 1913, he was called into conference with James K. McGuire, an agent for and a stockholder in the Barber company; Carlisle and others and informed that only Barber asphalt would meet State highway specifications.

Both Hennessy and Sulzer, continued the charges, received money from the McGuires, "some of which, if not the entire amount thereof, was furnished by the Barber Asphalt Paving Co."

When Hennessy was apprised tonight of his alleged connection with the asphalt deal, he said the accusation ought to be investigated immediately by a grand jury.

LURE OF THE TURKEY

Senators Prefer Gobblers to Gobbling.

Thanksgiving Dinner Engagements Break Into Senate Programme on Currency—Finish Two-Thirds of Bill.

Washington, Nov. 27.—The lure of the Thanksgiving turkey tonight made the first break in the Democratic Senate programme devised to rush the administration currency bill through that body before the holidays. After working all day on the measure with but a slim attendance, the conference of Senate Democrats flatly declined to hold tonight's scheduled session.

Too many of the Senators had Thanksgiving dinner engagements which they declined to break," said Senator Kern, chairman of the conference. "So there will be no night session."

The conference will meet at 10 o'clock tomorrow, to begin another day of hurried consideration of the bill. More than one-third of the bill, as reported by Senator Owen and the five other administration Democrats on the Banking and Currency committee was gone over at today's session. A number of amendments of a minor nature, altering the phraseology of the bill, were adopted, but the important provisions of the measure remained unaltered. The administration plan for regional banks owned and controlled by the National banks went through unchanged. Several other important matters were allowed to go over for future consideration.

Democratic leaders tonight were confident that the conference will complete its consideration of the bill by Saturday night, according to programme, and that the measure would be ready to go to the floor as a party measure, when the regular session begins Monday morning.

REPRESENTED IN NEW YORK.

American Federation of Labor to Place Trades Council There.

Seattle, Nov. 27.—The Building Trades Department of the American Federation of Labor decided today that a building trades council, representative of the American Federation of Labor and its policies, shall be established in New York City as a rebuke to the various so-called central bodies which grant recognition to dual and seceding unions.

John T. Taggert, of the International Union of Wood, Wire and Metal Lathers, made a vigorous speech in opposition, declaring that his union would not be bound by the orders of the proposed council. He was assailed by Frank M. Ryan, president of the Bridge and Structural Iron Workers.

FEDERALS AGAIN BEFORE JAUREZ

VILLA IS TO ATTACK THEM

El Paso, Texas, Nov. 27.—Rebel scouts reported to Gen Francisco Villa at Juarez tonight that they had sighted the Federal outposts at Villa Ahumada, 83 miles south of Juarez. The presence of Federal forces at Villa Ahumada caused no little concern in Juarez, as the rebel officers do not know definitely whether they are the troops which retreated after the Federal defeat Tuesday, or reinforcements from Chihuahua again moving north to engage Villa.

"I will leave to attack Chihuahua just as soon as I can get my trains loaded with provisions and my troops, which probably will be tomorrow night or Saturday morning," said Gen. Villa at Juarez. Villa expects to have at least 12,000 men when he attacks Chihuahua.

Spanish residents of Juarez appealed to American Consul Thomas B. Edwards, of that city, to take charge of their possessions, as Gen. Villa has threatened to confiscate their stores and other property. Consul Edwards accepted the custody of the property. There are about 100 Spaniards in Juarez. They have aroused Villa's displeasure by refusing to accept rebel fiat money and closing their stores.

Business houses in Juarez closed their doors this afternoon upon the issuance of an order there by Gen. Francisco Villa that shop keepers must accept Constitutionalist fiat money. When he learned that the merchants had closed their stores rather than accept the rebel currency, Villa announced that he would confiscate their stocks.

Executive Session.

Mexico City, Nov. 27.—An executive session of the chamber of deputies was held today and the proposition to reduce the salaries of the members was discussed, but no action was taken.

There is a report current here that the rebels have evacuated Victoria, capital of the State of Tamaulalos, and are moving in the direction of Tampico. The report has it that the rebels practically razed the city of Victoria.

Such reports of developments throughout the country as are availa-

HIGHER STANDARDS

Pleads for Professional Body of Teachers and Tells How to Secure and Retain Such a Body.

(Special Star Telegram.)

Raleigh, N. C., Nov. 27.—Members of the Teachers' Assembly and a vast audience of citizens generally heard with great pleasure and approval the annual address of President A. C. Reynolds, of the assembly, tonight on "A Professional Body of Teachers and How to Secure and Retain Such a Body."

He insisted that there must be such high and uniform requirements for entering upon this work and protection of those engaged in it as will induce men and women of proper capacity and training to take up the work as a life profession instead of as a stepping stone to something else. The home, school and special training best calculated to develop teachers really worth while were traced forcefully, the speaker declaring that none should teach except those who really inspire in the children a desire for knowledge and who have an attractive personality that will command respect, along with nobility of character.

He said the present system of examining and licensing high school teachers has provided a neucleus on which to build an efficient professional organization of teachers; also that the State Department of Education has already prepared, to be pressed upon the next Legislature for enactment, a bill for bringing teaching up to a professional standing and that will give opportunity for those now in the service who are deficient to bring themselves up to the required standard, those failing to qualify in proper time to be eliminated from teaching service. Along with raising the standards of equipment there must, he argued, be advancement in compensation to attract and hold the best men and women for their life work.

There was also tonight an address by Prof. William Heard Kilpatrick, of the chair of history of education, Teachers' College, Columbia University, on "The Montesorri System Examined." This was of keen professional interest to the teachers.

Nice, France, Nov. 27.—L. M. Bush, 19 years old, a seaman on the United States battleship Utah, anchored in Ville Franche harbor, attempted suicide at a hotel here today by shooting himself with a revolver. He was taken to a hospital in a serious condition. Bush told the hospital surgeons that he wished to die because of ill health.

CELEBRATE DAY IN MANY COUNTRIES

Thanksgiving Turkey Cooked on Every Continent.

BIG DINNER IN ENGLAND

London, Nov. 27.—The Thanksgiving dinner of the American Society here tonight was noteworthy because of the pronouncement of the British government's endorsement of the Monroe Doctrine by Viscount Haldane, Lord High Chancellor. Three hundred and fifty American men and women with a large number of British guests were present and they cheered Lord Haldane's words repeatedly.

"I recently made a visit to the United States," Lord Haldane said, "and came back with a deep sense of the high ideals the British and American nations held in common—the high ideals of citizenship of the two countries."

Referring to President Wilson, he said: "Before he became President Mr. Woodrow Wilson was a thinking man and a moralist. In studying his career I cannot fail to be impressed that he has not ceased to be a thinker and a moralist because he has become the holder of a great office. We see in him the aspirations and ideals of his nation expressed to the world. It is not only his expressed declaration that the policy of the United States is not one of conquest or annexation, but the world looks to the United States with its enormous position, and passessions to carry on its traditions without adding to its possessions. That is our course also."

The Monroe Doctrine.

Speaking of the Monroe Doctrine he said that he could see what was in the mind of the President of that time—that the responsibility rested with the United States to secure good government and fair treatment for smaller nations of the Western Hemisphere.

He interpreted President Wilson's policy to mean that the United States was ready to accept the responsibility of insuring good terms herself in those countries and to those who went there and that the United States should set up high ideals of policy of justice and of righteousness.

"I am not sure that any one should speculate upon the interpretation of that policy," continued the high chancellor, "but have thought myself at liberty to say what I have. It is true indeed, that a high spirit and a high aim have been brought into the policy of the United States in its dealings with adjacent countries and it is because the President has taken the attitude he has—a step which none can but admire, whatever its consequences may be—that I propose good health to Mr. Woodrow Wilson, the President, and Mr. Woodrow Wilson, the man."

"The American nation is not one whit afraid to follow its bent to the utmost length. The Lord Chancellor has spoken of doing what is righteous without regard to consequences. There are no consequences," he concluded emphatically.

The White House Dinner.

Washington Nov. 27.—President Wilson's family circle was complete at the White House Thanksgiving dinner tonight. Mr. and Mrs. Francis Bowes Sayre, who were married at the executive mansion last Tuesday and whose whereabouts have been a secret since then, slipped quietly into Washington late today and got back to the White House without being observed.

Although the President's daughter could have used a White House automobile, she and her husband preferred a taxicab. They had come by train from Baltimore, where it is believed they have been since last Tuesday.

The couple will accompany the President to New York tomorrow on his trip to see the Army-Navy football game, but they will sail for Europe Saturday, several hours before the game begins. They expect to return to Williamstown, Mass., their future home, late in January.

Dinner in Germany.

Hamburg, Nov. 27.—James W. Gerard, United States ambassador to Germany, was the principal speaker at the Thanksgiving dinner given today by the American colony here. He compared the inevitable business rivalry of the United States and Germany with the contests of the Olympic games. "I hope," he said, "that the business men will take their conflicts in sporting spirit and be generous rivals in the greatest and best of all games—namely, commerce."

Gives Out Statement.

Washington, Nov. 27.—Secretary Daniels of the Navy Department, today made this Thanksgiving statement:

"The specific achievement which has made this Thanksgiving notable is the success of the movement in New York to raise $4,000,000 for the Young Men's Christian Association and the Young Women's Christian Association. This is not significant so much because of the large amount of money raised as because it emphasizes the fact that these associations are appraised at their true value. It is a matter for sincere thanksgiving that the leaders in the churches recognize the need of reaching young people and of employing this new and modern agency."

HARDLY FOR JUDGE CARTER

To Try Asheville Liquor Cases in Which He Instituted Prosecutions—Governor Concerned.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Raleigh, N. C., Nov. 27.—The matter of changing a special term of civil Superior court in Buncombe county to a criminal term with Judge Frank Carter presiding, has given right much concern in the office of Governor Craig the past two days, and it looks now like the original civil term will stand as ordered without any provision for any special criminal court.

The chairman of the county commissioners and a number of citizens sent a petition for the change to criminal term with Judge Carter to preside and the Governor yesterday gave out a statement that this change would be made as requested. However, telephone and telegraph wires between Asheville and Raleigh got in play and brought about a withdrawal of the order for the criminal term. Then this morning Judge Carter himself wired the Governor that it would be agreeable to him for the original order for the civil term of court to stand and cut out the criminal term asked for.

Facts in Case.

The facts in the case are that some time ago Judge Carter directed the grand jury of the Buncombe court to investigate alleged whiskey sellers. The grand jury failed to investigate or at least to make any return indictments against the suspects. Then Judge Carter declared that he would investigate the cases himself, acting as an investigating or committing magistrate. He did this and made the pending indictments that it is being sought to have tried now before him at a special term of court December 15th.

Opposition to this is on the ground that Judge Carter having instituted the prosecutions some other judge should come on the scene to try the cases. Judge Carter can dispose of the cases himself if there should be a special criminal term substituted for the civil term December 15th. When the next regular criminal term comes around he will have gone, under the system of rotation of judges, to some other district to hold courts. It looks like this is the way the matter will be left, the liquor cases to await the next regular term of the court when another judge will hear them.

MARRIAGE A SURPRISE.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Fayetteville, N. C., Nov. 27.—Taking a great number of their friends in Fayetteville completely by surprise, Miss Margaret Small, of this city, and Mr. G. W. Gibson were married Monday night at Hope Mills by Rev. Mr. Strickland. Accompanied by two or three friends, including Miss Small's sister, Mrs. Albert Smith, the couple had driven by automobile without anyone here finding out their intention.

After the ceremony they had intended to take the northbound "Florida and West India Limited," but finding that the Limited made no stop there, they were compelled to motor back to Fayetteville and catch the train here.

Mr. Gibson is a traveling man who has been coming to Fayetteville some time and has made friends here. His bride is an attractive young lady who has many admirers and friends in this city.

SPECIAL EVENTS IN GREENSBORO

In Addition to the Regular Thanksgiving Services.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Greensboro, N. C., Nov. 27.—In addition to the usual Thanksgiving services in the city churches, today was featured by a number of special events. Liberal offerings were received for the various church and fraternal orphanages. Something like $400 was given to the Oxford Orphanage by the Masons and their friends, while the Methodist and Presbyterian churches did even better or as well for their institutions. The Odd Fellows, Episcopalians and Christians received liberal offerings for the several institutions.

The annual Thanksgiving service at the State Normal College under the auspices of the Young Women's Christian Association, was held at 9 o'clock. The offering was for the Oxford Orphanage. The address was made by Prof. W. C. Jackson. A trio composed of Misses Margaret Smith, Leah Slaughter and Mary Towers rendered an attractive selection.

HELPLESS MADE HAPPY.

Fayetteville Citizens Remember Convicts and County Poor.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Fayetteville, N. C., Nov. 27.—A good example of the Thanksgiving spirit was shown by a group of Fayetteville men who yesterday went about securing subscriptions of 25 cents apiece from the business men towards providing some of the better things of the day for the county convict camp and the inmates of the county home, and are having the same distributed today. The people asked to contribute responded promptly.

Among the things sent to the home and the camp were two boxes of oranges, one whole box of raisins, two bunches of bananas, one barrel of apples, a bucket of candy, a half barrel of nuts, a half bushel of peanuts and other things. The men who did this were Lieut. Alfred A. MacKethan, Dr. C. B. Patterson, D. H. Jones, W. H. Powell and Recorder John A. Cates.

CORNER STONE LAID.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Wilson, N. C., Nov. 27.—With remarkable enthusiasm and immense interest, the corner stone of the Wilson Hospital and Tubercular Home for Negroes was laid today with Masonic ceremonies, Grand Master R. B. McRary spreading the mortar.

The ceremonies followed a public meeting at the colored Baptist church where addresses were delivered, the speakers being Grand Master McRary for the negro race, and Dr. Platt W. Covington, representing the State Board of Health. Dr. Rankin was expected to be present, but was unable to come and Dr. Covington was his spokesman. The church was packed to the doors and a large number of representative negro men were present from every section of the State.

Valparaiso, Chile, Nov. 27.—Col. Theodore Roosevelt after passing a few hours sightseeing here yesterday, returned to Santiago today. He leaves tomorrow for Talcahuano, on his way to Lakes Nangiubus and Nahuelhuapi. He will afterwards proceed to Argentina to follow out the original programme of his journey.

Weighed In The Balance Of Household Economy

Light bread is by far the most nutritious and cheapest of all foods. Everybody ought to eat more light bread—especially growing children.

An increase in the light bread-eating habit will go far toward decreasing the high cost of living.

Besides being nutritious and cheap, light bread is also the most digestible when it is made right.

THIRTY-TWO ARE ADVANCED

(By Mamie Bays.)

Charlotte, N. C., Nov. 27.—During the session of the Western North Carolina Conference today, the larger part of the time was occupied with the passage of the character of the undergraduates and the hearing of the reports of the committees of examination regarding their advancement in the course of study of the conference.

Twelve uncergraduates were advanced to the class of the second year, seven were advanced to the class of the third year and were elected to deacon's orders, thirteen were advanced to the class of the fourth year and two were discontinued at their own request.

A telegram of greeting was received from the South Carolina Conference now in session at Rock Hill, and the secretary of this conference was instructed to make reply to the same in the name of the conference.

After an address by Rev. John D. Hammond, president of Paine College, at Augusta, Ga., which school is conducted under the auspices of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, for the education of the negro race, a collection of $197 was contributed to the school by the conference.

Others who addressed the conference were Rev. T. N. Ivey, editor of the Christian Advocate, the general organ of the Church, published at Nashville, Tenn., and Rev. Stonewall Anderson, secretary of the board of education of the Church.

Thanksgiving Sermon.

Bishop McCoy preached a Thanksgiving sermon at 11 o'clock, the business of the conference being suspended at that hour. A collection was taken for the Children's Home at Winston-Salem, the orphanage of the conference, which amounted to $140.

This evening the anniversary of the conference board of education was held. Rev. Stonewall Anderson delivered the principal address at this meeting.

Reidsville Wants Next.

Mr. P. H. Williamson, a prominent layman of Main Street church, Reidsville, will present to the conference an urgent invitation to hold its next session in that church. He will read in this connection a letter from Hon. Francis Womack, mayor of Reidsville, which is an invitation from the town, and he will read also resolutions from the board of stewarts of Main Street church inviting the conference there. The conference has been held in Reidsville only once, in 1895.

DEATH PECULIARLY SAD.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Kinston, N. C., Nov. 27.—The funeral of Daniel E., or "Jack," Perry, age 27, a well known young lawyer of this city who was killed by the accidental discharge of his gun while hunting about three miles from town late Tuesday, was conducted at the home of his mother here at 10 o'clock today, by the pastors of the First Baptist and Christian churches. Interment followed in Maplewood cemetery. The Bar Association, members of the Knights of Pythias and the local alumni of the University of North Carolina, with many other friends of the victim, followed the remains to the cemetery.

The circumstances of young Perry's death were peculiarly sad. He had motored with a male companion and three young ladies to the woods near the State school for the feeble-minded, and the latter, who remained in the automobile while the men were hunting in the woods, included his fiance and his younger sister. Perry, with a young dog in his arms, was climbing a fence when his gun went off, blowing a hole in the side of his neck which, though shallow, severed the carotid artery. Henry Tull, Jr., who was with him, ran up to find the lawyer prostrate and unconscious. He stuffed a handkerchief into the wound and ran for aid.

Dr. Ira M. Hardy, superintendent of the State school, went to the victim, while another physician was summoned from the city by telephone. They arrived a few minutes apart, and though Dr. Hardy had stopped the blood flow with forcops, they quickly agreed that it was impossible to save Perry's life. After first aid had been rendered he was rushed to the McDaniel Memorial Hospital here, but expired just before he was taken into the hospital.

MEANS MUCH TO WADESBORO.

Historic Property Fit For Residences, to be Sold.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Wadesboro, N. C., Nov. 27.—A real estate sale of much interest to the people of Wadesboro and the public generally is announced to take place here January 12th, 1914, when the valuable Leak estate will be sold for division. These lands lie between the Lilesville and Morven roads, south of Morgan street, and adjoin the old cemetery lot and includes what is known as the baseball park, containing about 75 acres. It will be sold for division among the owners by Mr. H. H. McLendon, commissioner. The property will be divided into sections and first sold in sections, then as a whole.

This valuable piece of property once belonged to Hon. Robert Troy, who came to Wadesboro from Pennsylvania about 1,800 and practiced law. He was solicitor general of North Carolina and married Miss Rosa Harrington in 1801. She was a daughter of Gen. William Henry Harrington, of Revolutionary fame. His descendants are now living in Anson county. Mr. Troy died in 1807. An odd stone marks his grave in the old cemetery.

Here in a large grove Mr. Troy built one of the most imposing homes of the day and entertained elaborately. He named his place Mount Calm. In 1850, sometime after Mr. Troy's death, the late James A. Leak bought this property for $2,650. It is now variously estimated to be worth from $50,000 to $75,000. The placing of this real estate on the market will mark a new era of building progress.

Going, going, gone! Those who get Huerta behind them when he makes up his mind that he does not need them in his business.

Half a billion dollars of American money have been invested in Canada during the past five years. Most of it went into farms that are frozen up six months in the year.

It takes a woman longer to make up her toilet than it does to make up her mind, but a woman can make up her toilet a long time before a man can make up his mind.

A Connecticut woman who had been married twenty-two years kept it a secret from two sisters with whom she was living all the while. However, she couldn't keep the secret. She finally had to tell it.

Women are managing a city in France and it is run bette rthan cities of the same size that are run by men. They haven't learned to let the city run them instead of wasting time running the city.

"John Doe" seems to be quite a number of New Yorkers who have raked in the dough that belonged to the public. It would set a healthy example if the dough-ty fellows could be convicted and sent to the penitentiary.

Warriors boast of the number of killed and wounded among the opposing forces. War arouses the brutal instinct in man, and gratification over slaughter and bloodshed indicates how great it is among contending armies of men.

The fast-approaching year ought to mark the greatest progress in the history of Wilmington. Building progress is steady, but we must start an industrial revolution if we want to keep up the present clip at which Wilmington is going ahead. Get the payroll idea in your head.

HITS THE VIRGINIA CITIES.

Judging from the action of the Virginia basing points in protesting before the Inter-State Commerce Commission against freight rate reduction in North Carolina territory, it is the cities of the sister State that seem to be more affected than the railroads. We don't believe the railroads will be hurt at all, for just rates that will enable the great resources of North Carolina to be developed on a broader scale are bound to give the railroads compensating business to make up for their concessions.

Virginia cities have long had the advantage in the matter of freight rates compared with those which showed palpable discrimination against our cities. That they should yield that advantage without a pang or a protest is contrary to reason, hence their fight against just rates for North Carolina must be regarded as a hopeless effort at self-defense. If we are right, the Virginia cities are wrong and as a logical consequence they will have to yield to the inevitable. We should be patient with them, for it is natural for them to show signs of pain when their cinch is lopped off in a manner that gives North Carolina cities a showing at the bat. We are sorry for them, but it is North Carolina's inning now.

HOW SOME COUNTIES LOSE.

The Elizabethtown correspondent of the Bladen Journal, published at Clarkton, writes that paper to express his genuine disappointment on account of "the fact that several families within the last few months have moved out of Bladen county."

It certainly is a matter of regret when whole families move away from a community. It is bad enough when the young men pick up and go, but worse when men with families come to the conclusion that they must move to some other place where the opportunities and advantages are better. Generally, families consist of several people, so that when a number of families go it means a decided loss to a county or a community, unless as many more families come to take their places. Elizabethtown is the county seat of Bladen county, and in deploring the moving away of some good families, the Journal's correspondent there says:

"What we need is not people moving out but into our section. What we need in this county is more transportation facilities, better roads and conditions to invite people from the outside world to come among us. We are tired of seeing our county a place for speculations in land and timber rather than settling people who may abide and make permanent homes. What we need is brawn and muscle to tackle our farms, clear up the pitiful forests left by the lumbermen, instead of land speculations. We need an organized agency of our best men in the county to settle people upon these farms."

Of course, there are always movements of people from one point to another. Many prosperous counties lose people because the opportunities are better for those particular people in some other county, but when they go others will come to take their places for the same reason, provided the opportunities are good. There's the rub, however. If the advantages, opportunities and possibilities are lacking, it shows a state of affairs that calls for a remedy.

There is a cause why people are moving away instead of moving in. Some are not moving in for the same reason that others are moving away. There is nothing wrong with Bladen county lands when they are properly drained and modern farming is done. There are fine lands in that fertile county, so the reason that homeseekers are not coming into Bladen is a matter for the people of that county to consider seriously. Probably the chief thing that Bladen needs is good schools, good roads and drainage. If it hasn't got those, Bladen ought to start in with a movement to place herself in readiness for homeseekers. We can't expect them until we can entertain them with something besides our fine climate and fertile lands.

ENGLAND'S PLAN FOR PANAMA CANAL OPERATIONS.

The best informed men in British maritime circles do not believe that the United States will stick to its purpose to exempt American ships from Panama Canal toll, because a preferential in favor of American ships would discourage foreign shipping from using the canal to as great an extent as they would otherwise. Since no toll will be collected from American ships, as the law now stands, all the revenue for operation and maintenance of the canal would have to be secured from foreign ships.

If, however, free-toll American ships have such an advantage that foreign ships will be deterred from using the canal, where is the revenue coming from to keep the canal going, unless it comes out of the people of the United States? That would be making the masses pay the tolls for the ships of the ocean carrying companies.

Believing that America will see it that way and will be compelled to charge all ships a toll of $1.25 per ton in order to make both ends meet, the British shipping interests are going ahead with their preparations to use the canal whenever it is to their advantage to do so. British ship-owners and merchants in every line of produce and manufacture, have carefully laid plans for any change that may come over the trade of the world as a result of the opening of the canal.

All the big steamship companies have added to their tonnage and the new ships that are being built are designed to meet the special requirements of the canal. Coaling stations also are being arranged for in order that ships may get coal between Colon and England. That means that they do not propose to come out of their way up the North Atlantic coast to get coal. It is necessary for them to get it in the South Atlantic, and so we are neglecting a fine opportunity by not having a coaling station at Southport.

CURRENT COMMENT.

Perhaps the railroads of the country are entitled to a raise in freight rates by reason of the increased wages paid and other expenses, but all this has nothing to do with the discriminations in freight rates between Virginia and North Carolina. This is a horse of another color.—Greensboro Record.

At the next session of the legislature the anti-saloon league proposes to ask that the shipment of whiskey into the State be prohibited. Let us hope it will get what it wants. To us it seems that is as much of an excuse to prevent a man from ordering it outside the State as there is for preventing him from buying it across the counter at home.—Durham Herald.

Since Duplin, Sampson, Wayne and other counties were placed in the stock law territory, Lenoir, Jones, Johnston and several more counties are facing a serious dilemma. It is up to these counties to adopt the stock law or expend thousands of dollars to fence themselves in. The people are aroused over the situation, and stock law elections have been called in several of the counties.—Mount Olive Tribune.

The members of the Housewives' League in Wilmington have decided to institute a boycott against the dealers who are charging increased prices for milk. The women have investigated the prices of foodstuffs and find they are about the same as three years ago. They base their justification for the boycott on the charge that the increase in the price of milk is a gouge, pure and simple. The Wilmington league is a branch of the National League of Housewives, which has a membership of 700,000. This league has sent out telegrams to all branch organizations giving notice of a boycott also against the egg trust. The league will not only call for a halt in the purchase of eggs until conditions are improved, but will urge the enforcement of the law which requires all cold storage eggs to be labeled. This law has been generally ignored and it has been possible to palm off storage eggs at the price of fresh eggs. The women have a merry war on their hands, but The Observer is inclined to believe they will succeed in bringing about a desirable improvement in market conditions.—Charlotte Observer.

PENDER MONUMENT.

To the Editor of The Star:

I find our correspondent from Burgaw on the 26th attempted to clear up the errors that the Whiteville correspondent made in regard to the restraining order that was dissolved by Judge Rountree on Monday, the 24th. Regarding the business men of the town vs. the location of the Confederate monument by the U. D. C. Chapter 761, I want to state here that I have no correction to make as to what he said.

But one tale does well until another one is told. On February 20th, 1904, this chapter secured a charter and began the great task headed by Mrs. Flora Williams and Miss Maggie Williams, soliciting members and funds. Later in the work Mrs. E. L. Larkins and others joined in with them and did quite a lot of collecting funds and adding new members to the chapter.

After they all together had labored until they had several hundred dollars there was an appropriation by the Legislature for Pender county to give them $500. Early in the Spring of this year there was a contract entered into by the U. D. C. and the Cooper Monument Co., of Raleigh, the contract price of said monument to be $1,800, and after the contract was signed by Miss Maggie Williams as secretary of the U. D. C., and by the Cooper Co., and the pledge of the county commission, with the understanding of all parties that it should be erected in front of the Court House.

There arose a dissension between the Daughters in regards to the site of the monument and all this trouble has grown out of said discussion and as they claim they had a right to place it in the streets and Miss Maggie Williams and those that are with her claim they have the right only to follow the contract and she holds the charter and the contract and the commissioners are ready to comply with their part when the contract is complied with. These are facts and I hope for the benefit of all concerned you will give me space in your columns. Respectfully,

A. E. BURTON.

EMERSON AND FINLEY.

PRESIDENT T. M. EMERSON.

(Raleigh News and Observer.)

The death of the presidents of two great Southern railway systems on the same day was a most remarkable coincidence. President Emerson, of the Atlantic Coast Line, and President Finley, of the Southern, were both railroad men of signal ability. The order of Mr. Finley's ability was, as we pointed out yesterday, in the line of originative and creative work.

Mr. Emerson belonged rather to the old school of railroading and his strength was in the established and accepted activities of railroad management with the result that his road has been one of the most profitable in the country. As a practical railroad man, experienced in and enjoying the solving of every-day railroad traffic problems, gifted in the selection of effective subordinates and capable of inspiring them to a high degree of efficiency, Mr. Emerson achieved distinguished success. He was traffic manager of his road from 1891 to 1902 and it is said that during those years there was hardly a more capable traffic man in the United States than he.

Although born in Ohio Mr. Emerson had lived in the South so long that he had become Southern in sympathy and particularly had he absorbed the Southern characteristics of geniality and kindliness. He was very popular in Wilmington, which had been his home for many years.

Like most other railroad men who have won high position he started at the bottom and by industry and application won a position of pre-eminence and great emolument.

DEAD RAILROAD PRESIDENTS.

(Charlotte Observer.)

It is remarkable that the deaths of President W. W. Finley of the Southern Railway, and of President T. M. Emerson of the Atlantic Coast Line, were both recorded in yesterday morning's papers. Both men died suddenly and there were only two years between them in age. It is a further coincidence that Mr. Finley's predecessor as head of the Southern Railway, Samuel Spencer, met death, in a wreck, almost an even six years before—the very anniversary, lacking but one day. All of these railroad executives died when it might have been supposed that there were many years of high usefulness awaiting each of them. Mr. Finley and Mr. Emerson, if not also Mr. Spencer, may be recorded as victims of the modern business pace that kills.

(Greensboro Record.)

The death of two presidents of the greatest railroads in the South in one day is an unusual coincident. It was announced in The Record yesterday that Mr. Finley, of the Southern, died suddenly in Washington yesterday afternoon. Last night President Emerson, of the Atlantic Coast Line, died at his home in Wilmington. He had been sick for some time, but was thought to be improving. He was seized with acute indigestion and died very soon. In the case of Mr. Finley, he was stricken with apoplexy.

(Raleigh Times.)

Thomas Martin Emerson entered the railroad service as a clerk in the freight office. When he died in Wilmington Tuesday night he was president of the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad Company. His personality and ability like that of President Finley, carried him to the top, and death removed him as in the case of the executive of the Southern, when he should have been in his prime.

NEWS FROM SCOTT.

May Have to Fight Contrary Indians in New Mexico.

Farmington, N. M., Nov. 27.—An Indian runner arrived here today with first news of the movement of the 12th cavalry acting as escort for Gen. Hugh L. Scott, ordered to the Navajo reservation to subdue an incipient Indian uprising.

Gen. Scott, accompanied only by an Indian interpreter, today left Noel trading post at the foot of Beautiful Mountain, the Indian stronghold, for a pow wow with the Navajo chiefs. The outcome of his conference will decide whether the Indians will surrender without a fight.

Should they spurn overtures of peace, the troops will move against them immediately.

PLAN FOR ORGANIZATION

Just Freight Rate Association to be Placed on Permanent Basis—Meeting of Board.

Mr. J. G. McCormick, of this city, a member of the advisory board of the Just Freight Rate Association of North Carolina, has received from Mr. J. C. Forester, of Greensboro, a copy of the plan prepared by him suggesting a means for the permanent maintenance of the organization. President Fred N. Tate, of the association, has called a meeting of the advisory board to be held in Greensboro Tuesday of next week, at which some plan will be adopted for placing the organization on a permanent basis.

The meeting was to have been held Wednesday of this week, but was postponed because there were a number of the members of the board who found that they could not get away at that time. In view of the deep interest in Wilmington, in the rate question, the plan of organization as suggested by Mr. Forester, is given below:

"Object—The object of the association shall be to represent its members with respect to freight rates on any commodity to and from any territory, to advise members the legal rates and most advantageous routes on their traffic, to check their freight payments to see that more than the legal rates are not collected, and, in cases where illegal rates are collected to arrange for appropriate refunds, to advise how to pack and describe shipments in order to secure the most advantageous rates, to trace delayed shipments, to study various rate adjustments affecting members, keep them advised of discriminations that may exist, to arrange as nearly as possible for equitable, non-discriminatory rates, either through negotiations direct with the railroads or other common carriers, or appeal to State or Federal tribunals, to aid such tribunals in any effort they make in the interest of members and bring pressure to bear which will insure their active interest in any cases where they seem to be indifferent, to create an organization which will constantly match the energy and technical knowledge that the interests of our State may not suffer by default, and provide a medium through which our people may make their influence felt with respect to legislation and its enforcement, so far as it pertains to freight rates.

"Membership—Any person, firm, corporation or commercial organization doing business in North Carolina is eligible to membership. Memberships shall be divided into two classes—service and non-service. Service memberships to receive such service as is usually performed by traffic departments of individual business concerns, non-service members to be kept advised of rate adjustments of a general nature, that they may know to what extent the commercial development of our State is being hampered by unjust freight rates.

"Dues—Service membership dues shall be $2 per month, payable quarterly in advance, which shall entitle members to competent analysis and advice respecting their freight rate problems, and proper presentation of complaints before State and Federal tribunals, but not traveling or other extraordinary expenses involved in cases in which but one or a very few members are interested. The board of directors shall decide when cases are of sufficient general interest to have such extraordinary expense borne by the association. Further, of any amount collected from common carriers through the agency of the association for service members, 40 per cent. shall be paid to the association as compensation for this specific service.

"Non-service members' dues shall be $5 per annum, payable in advance, except that Chambers of Commerce, Boards of Trade, Commercial Clubs, and other similar commercial organizations shall be eligible to non-service membership on the payment of 10 cents per annum for each member, but in no case less than $24 annually for any such commercial organization.

"Dues Continued—More than one membership may be taken by any person, firm, corporation or commercial organization, and shall have one vote for each membership so held, but no member whose dues are unpaid shall be permitted to participate in the affairs of the association.

"Board of Directors—The conduct of the affairs of the association shall be controlled by the board of directors, consisting of —— members who shall be elected at annual meetings by proxy or personal attendance at such meetings, and shall serve till their successors are elected and qualify, they shall employ such assistance as in their judgment may be necessary, and incur any necessary expense to carry out the purposes of the association, but shall not contract any debts for accounts of association except when funds are available to meet such financial obligation at maturity; —— directors shall constitute a quorum.

"Officers—The board of directors shall meet immediately after their election and elect from their number a president, vice-president, secretary and treasurer, to serve during the life of the board electing them. The board may in its discretion combine the offices of secretary and treasurer, and, in the event of a vacancy in the board or officers, may fill the vacancy for the unexpired term of the board.

"A quorum at annual or special membership meetings shall be —— present or represented by proxy.

"This plan may be changed by a majority of members present or represented at any annual meeting or special meeting called for that purpose on written request of —— members, addressed to the president."

The foregoing plan is outlined by Mr. Forester in order that the members of the advisory board might have a concrete proposition to consider when the meeting is held. Discussing the plan in a letter to Mr. McCormick, Mr. Forester says:

"The idea I had in mind in drawing up the plan was by combining the interested people throughout the State in a properly equipped organization, we could with minimum expense to each provide a means which the freight rate problems of all could be given attention by competent trained men.

"The first step, as I view it, should be to properly circularize the State, followed by a canvass by a trained traffic man, who would be properly equipped to explain in detail the benefits to flow from the creation of such an association and to solicit memberships. Such a man should be of the calibre that he would be able to interest possible members, capable of intelligently discussing their problems with them, and also to assist in preparing exhibits, briefs, arguments, etc., at the main office, as occasion might make necessary or desirable. I would give him the title of "traveling agent" and keep him constantly in the field, except in cases where his presence at headquarters was temporarily advisable."

When the organization is sufficiently advanced to justify it, Mr. Forester would employ a competent man to conduct the detail work of the association under the direction of the board of directors. He would be known as managing director and should be a trained traffic man in order that he may be qualified to point out the weak spots in claims advanced by the carriers and meet technical knowledge or argument in kind, says Mr. Forester.

FROM OFFICERS' CONGRESS

Brimming over with enthusiasm for the work in which he is so keenly interested and in which he has given the better part of his life, Adjutant Mataxas, in charge of the local post of the Salvation Army, returned yesterday morning from a ten-days' stay in New York, where he attended the Officers' Congress of the Salvation Army.

The meeting, said Adjutant Mataxas, was one of the biggest ever held in this country by the Salvation Army and was an inspiration to all the officers attending from different parts of the country.

Sunday was a big day and two public meetings were held, one at the Lyric Theatre and other at Carnegie Hall. These were attended by several thousand people. About thirty men, prominent in New York and nationally, occupied places on the platform, among them being Dr. Parkhurts, Dr. Cadman, John Wanamaker, and others. At one of the meetings Sunday General Booth was introduced to the gathering by District Attorney Whitman. General Booth spoke on "Lessons From My Father's Life" and made a most interesting address.

General Booth announced to the officers a plan for broadening the work of the organization. It is planned to open boarding houses throughout the country for girls who are working on moderate salaries. These places will be made real homes, taking the place as nearly as possible the home that the girls leave upon entering the field of endeavor to earn their livelihood. They will be of particular benefit in the larger cities. When these homes are established it will not be necessary as it is in a great many cases now for the girls to go to the dance halls in order to entertain their friends. They will be allowed this privilege in the home. As stated, it will in every way be as nearly like the real home as it is possible to make it. Matrons will be in charge of a certain number of girls. It is planned to establish this new feature of the work in the United States just as soon as possible.

It was announced at the meeting that the Salvation Army will open a new settlement for lepers in India, accommodating 1,000. At present the army is taking care of 11,000 lepers. Settlements are established by walling in a given territory of about four miles square and in this inclosure the afflicted ones are taught how to do various things and along with the civilization of these people an effort is put forth to make Christians of them.

Announcement was also made of the fact that about 50 young people, some married couples in the number, had volunteered their services in foreign fields and will leave in a short time to begin their new duties.

The work of the Salvation Army is broadening out all the time and the meeting just closed has given an added impetus to it.

BRIGADE BASKETBALL.

Two Games to be Played in "Gym" Tonight—Arrange Tour.

Two fast games of basketball are scheduled for the Boys' Brigade tonight when Company B meets the crack Cardinals and the Giants line up to do battle with the Eagles. The Cardinals always put up a game of the finest kind and when they are pitted against Company B they never fail to show class of the highest type. Then they are so close in the race to Company B that this team cannot afford to lose while the Cardinals realize the importance of winning as this will give them a chance to win the first series.

The Giants are very formidable opponents of any team they meet as shown by their last two games and they will work hard to defeat the Eagles tonight. The Eagles, on the other hand, have improved to such an extent that they cannot be defeated except by the very best of ball and they threaten to make things lively for all the other teams in the league, if not this series, then in the next. They play a fast clean game which the Giants will have hard work to overcome. This also should be a good game and worth seeing. Seats are furnished all who attend free of charge. Ladies are especially invited to witness these games. The games will begin at 8:30 sharp.

It may be of interest to lovers of basketball to know that Company B has a schedule of games outside of the city, two with Wilson, two with Donaldson Military Academy, and one with the Charleston Y. M. C. A. The dates have not yet been agreed upon, but this detail will be decided soon. A large number of the Brigade members will accompany the team on its trips and will afford encouragement to them among strangers. Other games will be arranged later. A game with the Raleigh Y. M. C. A. will be played after the Christmas holidays, this game having been decided upon when Mr. B. J. Thees, physical director of the Raleigh Y. M. C. A., was in Wilmington on a visit recently.

Three Steamers Yesterday.

Although there was a holiday in the markets yesterday and the wharf was as quiet as the Sabbath, there were arrivals of three steamers, two bringing cargo to the port and one arriving light for cotton from Messrs. Alexander Sprunt & Son. The British steamer Riverdale is from Hamburg via Norfolk, with part cargo of kainit for the A. C. L. terminals; the British steamer Membland arrived via Charleston with part cargo of kainit for the Seaboard Air Line, and the British steamer Etolia is here for cotton from Messrs. Sprunt & Son.

North Carolina Day.

December 12th will be observed in the public schools of the State as North Carolina Day. It has been the custom for several years, made so by statute, to observe one day in the Fall as North Carolina Day, devoted to a programme of exercises as outlined by the State Superintendent of Public Instruction. The date of the observance is left to the State Superintendent and Dr. Joyner has just given notice that December 12th is the date fixed for this year. The programme is now in course of preparation and will be sent out in a few days.

MR. BURTT DIES SUDDENLY

Well Known Wilmington Citizen Succumbs to Heart Disease—Lived Here All His Life.

Many friends in the city and elsewhere in the State will be deeply grieved to learn of the death of Mr. S. H. Burtt, one of Wilmington's well known and highly respected citizens, who passed away suddenly at his home in the Carolina Apartments last night at 11:30 o'clock. Mr. Burtt had spent the day with his family and was apparently as well as usual. He was preparing to retire and went to the bath room to get a drink of water.

Just as he returned to the bed room he fell across the bed in a faint as Mrs. Burtt thought. When she called to him, and he did not respond she called to some of her neighbors. Dr. B. J. Willingham was summoned at once but life was gone before he reached the home. Death was due to heart trouble.

Besides his wife he leaves an aged mother, Mrs. Catherine Burtt, who has lived with him for many years, and one daughter, Mrs. Gustav Hagedorn, of Raleigh. They will have the tender sympathy of a host of friends in their bereavement.

Mr. Burtt was born in Wilmington in 1850, and was, therefore, 63 years old. He lived in this city all his life with the exception of the time that he was away at school. He was educated in the public schools of this city and at Wake Forest College. He engaged in business in his early young manhood and at the time of his death was bookkeeper for Einstein Bros. He was for many years with the Standard Oil Company. After leaving this company he was for a long time with Samuel Bear, Sr., & Sons. For several years he had been with Einstein Bros.

At the age of 16 he joined the First Baptist church of which he remained a loyal and faithful member until his death. For a number of years he had been a deacon in that church.

He was a man who was devotely attached to his family and intensely interested in everything that made for the uplift of mankind. He believed thoroughly in his church and took a prominent part in advancing its interests. In public matters he always felt a deep concern and did much towards furthering the general improvement of the moral conditions of the community. His death is a distinct loss to the city in which he had lived so long.

The funeral will be held tomorrow, at an hour to be announced later.

POLICE KEPT BUSY.

Following Day of Quiet There was Much Doing Last Night.

Following a day of quiet, during which not a single arrest was made up to a late hour in the afternoon, the police were kept busy last night running in persons who had elected to celebrate Thanksgiving night in a way that is not sanctioned by the law. The blotter at 1 o'clock showed the following with the "Black Maria" out in answer to another call:

Coleman; Willie Williams, colored, similar offense, arrested by Plainclothesman Leon George; Sherman McLaurin, colored, disorderly conduct, arrested by Patrolman W. R. Applebury; H. C. Knoles, white, disorderly conduct, arrested by B. W. Jacobs; Alexander Taylor, colored, violating speed law, arrested by Officer H. G. Bullard; Wash McNeill, colored, convict from county roads, drunk and down, arrested on Queen, between 12th and 13th, by Mounted Officer J. F. Jordan; W. T. Cumber, white, disorderly conduct arrested by Plainclothesman Frank George, I. D. Justice, white, drunk and disorderly, Tom Davis, colored, assault on his wife, whom he is alleged to have cut slightly on the finger, and Amos Matthews, white, disorderly conduct, all arrested by Mounted Officer Jordan.

COLUMBIA NAVAL STORES CO.

Takes Over Business of American Naval Stores Company.

Effective Novmeber 1st, the business of the American Naval Stores Company at Wilmington and other Southern ports is to be taken over by the Columbia Naval Stores Company, which was organized following the suspension of business of the first named company some time ago. Mr. F. A. Thompson, who has been manager in Wilmington for the American company, will continue in this position with the Columbia. The business will be carried on here practically as before, Mr. Thompson stated last night. Offices have been secured in the Carolina Insurance Company building, No. 12 Princess street, directly across the street from The Star office, and they are now being remodeled and put in shape for the company. Mr. Thompson stated that it is hoped to get in the new offices by Saturday of this week.

Freedom After 11 Years.

After serving the county in the capacity of road builder for 11 years, Garfield Pearsall, colored, was able yesterday to enjoy his first day's freedom in that period. He completed his time on the county roads Wednesday. In 1912 he was sentenced to four years on the roads for shooting another negro. Within a few weeks of the expiration of the time, while a trusty, Pearsall broke into a store and dwelling at Castle Haynes, for which he received an additional term of seven years. When he left the roads Wednesday Pearsall was given a new suit of clothes, shoes, etc., and an hour later succeeded in getting a job.

AFTER GRIPPE

Made Strong by Vinol.

John C. Furman, of Clarion, Pa., says: "After a very severe attack of the grippe my system was in a weakened, nervous and run-down condition. I had no appetite at all. I was obliged to continue with my work, and nothing seemed to help me until a friend induced me to take Vinol. I began to note good results from the first bottle. I continued its use and am now sound and well as ever.

In health one cannot realize how depressed a person may become after trying one remedy after another without benefit for such a condition as Mr. Furman was in, or what a relief it is to find help and be restored to health and strength.

It is the combined action of the medicinal curative element of cods' livers without the greasy oil, aided by the blood-making and strength-creating properties of tonic iron, that makes Vinol so efficient in building up the weakened run-down system.

THANKSGIVING OBSERVED

Thanksgiving was generally observed yesterday by the people of Wilmington, services being held in practically all the churches of the city while business was almost entirely suspended. Some of the stores were open during the morning but by noon the downtown district had taken on a Sunday air, and only here and there could be found a group of men discussing current topics or calling to mind memories of other Thanksgivings in the days of long ago.

The weather was in marked contrast to that of last Thanksgiving when this section was visited by its first snow of the season. There was a lightly clouded sky which made the sun shine with a vague dimness that was almost uncanny. The temperature was just right to make it pleasant without a fire both indoors and outdoors for the greater part of the day. Last night there was enough chill in the air to make a cozy fire most pleasant, and many happy families gathered around the fire sides in comfortable homes to recount the experiences of the day. The weather man dealt kindly indeed with this section, making it an ideal day for whatever pleasure that the busy man of affairs might wish to indulge in.

Many of the churches had services yesterday morning while others waited until last night. Collections were taken for the various orphan homes in this and other States, and the members of the different congregations with their accustomed generosity contributed liberally to the fund for helping poor helpless children.

No Thanksgiving is considered complete without a dinner in which turkey and cranberry sauce has a prominent place on the bill of fare. Turkeys were not sold here in large quantities and there were many homes that had chicken instead. But the best thing about the dinner after all was the opportunity to gather the family and friends about the table for a short season of good cheer. Many remembered the poor people of the city and sent out baskets filled with good things to eat, and were thus made happy by having helped others to be happy.

In the afternoon many found amusement and recreation in the moving picture shows while a large number went to the Academy of Music to see Norman Hackett in "A Double Deceiver." Quite a number went to the country to spend the day in the fields and woods in close communion with dame nature. A large number spent the day in hunting while others went fishing.

Fifty baskets well filled with good things to eat were distributed by the local post of the Salvation Army Wednesday and yesterday. In addition, the Army gave out about 20 pairs of shoes and over 200 garments of different kinds. These donations to the poor were made possible only by the generous response of the public to the appeal for aid issued by Adjutant and Mrs. Mataxas, who are in charge of the work in this city, and they desire to return to the donors their most sincere thanks for the assistance. In speaking last night of the distribution of the baskets, Mrs. Mataxas said that she first delivered baskets to the old ladies, of whom there are a goodly number in Wilmington whose only Thanksgiving comes to them through the Salvation Army. It gave Mrs. Mataxas, whose heart is deep in her most noble work, great pleasure to see the joy it gave the recipients of these baskets.

The Salvation Army is already planning for baskets and other gifts to the poor of the city at Christmastide, and the public as usual will respond most generously.

The prisoners on the county roads were not forgotten. By order of the Commissioners, the convicts were given a holiday, and they were allowed by the men in charge to devote the day to recreation, letter-writing and anything else that suited them that did not conflict with the necessary restraint that must be maintained at all times. Special dinners were provided, and the prisoners fared as well as they could under the circumstances. At the Federal Point camp many of the people living in the neighborhood sent provisions, fruits, etc., to the convicts.

MR. GEO. T. BROWN DEAD.

Prominent Winston-Salem Tobacco Manufacturer Passes Away.

Word was received in this city yesterday of the sudden death in Winston-Salem of Mr. Geo. T. Brown, president of the Brown-Williamson Tobacco Company, of Winston-Salem. The Brown-Williamson Tobacco Company is the largest independent tobacco manufacturing firm in the Twin-City, and Mr. Brown was recognized as one of that city's foremost citizens. While the particulars were not stated in the brief telegram received here, it is presumed that his death was sudden, as he was apparently in good health a few days ago, and no word had been received of his illness by friends in this city. Mr. Brown was about 55 years old, and is survived by his wife. The Brown-Williamson Company is represented in this territory by Mr. J. McRae Dalton, who makes Wilmington his headquarters, and who happened to be here yesterday, when word of Mr. Brown's passing was received.

After two knockdowns in the fourth and ninth rounds Cross showed marvelous recuperative powers and fought brilliantly, but could not overcome the lead Rivers won by consistent and vicious milling.

THE SCHUMANN QUINTETTE.

The Next Number in Boys' Brigade Lyceum Course December 4th.

The second number of the Boys' Brigade Lyceum Course will be presented Thursday night, December 4th. The entertainers will be the Schumann Quintette. This is composed of Messrs. Carl A. Lampert, leader and first violin; Norman Weller, second violin; Nicolai Zedeler, cello, and Misses Jeanette Phillips Lampert, pianist, and Miriam Zedeler, organist.

This promises to be a very pleasing number as the Schumann Quintette brings to the lyceum a genuinely new idea, that of presenting "symphonic concerts" with a company of five musicians, each an artist. To secure this symphonic effect a specially-constructed organ is carried. This gives all the reed and wind effects of a large orchestra and, when combined with the piano and string instruments, produces an effect as surprising as it is unique. Every number of the programme, while played by a company of first-class musicians, is of a tuneful nature, which is so seldom the case when programmes are presented by this class of musician. Technique is not forgotten neither is the pleasure of the audience in this case. This is best shown by the selections which embrace only good music and yet are such as are familiar to the general public as well as educated musicians, among these being such well known and pleasing compositions as Schubert's Serenade, Mendelssohn's Wedding March, Marriage of Figaro, by Mozart; Beethoven's Menuet, Invitation to the Dance, by von Weber; Traumeri, by Schumann; Sextette from Lucia, and others as well and favorably known and when played by this class of musicians leaves nothing to be desired. This programme should please all musical tastes alike.

Reserved seat tickets will go on sale next Wednesday at Munson & Co.'s store.

Splendid Service Last Night.

The Thanksgiving service at Immanuel Presbyterian church last night was largely attended and greatly enjoyed. The pastor, Rev. J. S. Crowley, preached a fine sermon, following which an interesting programme of exercises was carried out, including a solo by Mr. Tremaine; recitation by Miss Louise Singletary, and a song by Miss Annie Worth's Home Missionary Band, composed of 15 little girls about 12 years of age.

Stork and Cupid Cunning Plotters

Many a New Home will Have a Little Sunbeam to Brighten it.

There is usually a certain degree of dread in every woman's mind as to the probable pain, distress and danger of child-birth. But, thanks to a most remarkable remedy known as Mother's Friend, all fear is banished and the period is one of unbounded, joyful anticipation.

Mother's Friend is used externally. It is a most penetrating application, makes the muscles of the stomach and abdomen pliant so they expand easily and naturally without pain, without distress and with none of that peculiar nausea, nervousness and other symptoms that tend to weaken the prospective mother. Thus Cupid and the stork are held up to veneration; they are rated as cunning plotters to herald the coming of a little sunbeam to gladden the hearts and brighten the homes of a host of happy families.

There are thousands of women who have used Mother's Friend, and thus know from experience that it is one of our greatest contributions to healthy, happy motherhood. It is sold by all druggists at $1.00 per bottle, and is especially recommended as a preventive of caking breasts and all other such distresses.

Write to Bradfield Regulator Co., 131 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for their very valuable book to expectant mothers. Get a bottle of Mother's Friend to-day.

HOME RULE FOR IRELAND NOT YET.

Premier Asquith Declared Government Determined in Its Policy.

Leeds, England, Nov. 27.—Premier Asquith's speech today at the meeting of the National Liberal Federation, which was eagerly awaited because it was expected to throw light on the question of how far the negotiations for a settlement of home rule by agreement had med success, disappointed those who were sanguine of a peaceful issue.

"I should be deceiving myself," he said, "if I said that I saw at this moment a prospect of agreement. But I cannot concur with those who say that time has been or is being wasted."

The prime minister declared there was no foundation for the report that on this or any other matter the cabinet was divided.

Regarding a possible settlement by consent he held it should be carried on beyond the reach of electoral or parliamentary vicissitudes; otherwise the Irish question would continue to be the football of party politics.

There was no ground whatever, he declared, for the demand made by the conservatives for a general election. It could not be fought on the single issue of home rule and could not result in a settlement of the question. The government, he said, was determined to give home rule to Ireland and was not going to be frightened or arrested by menaces of civil war.

The prime minister also disappointed those who had been expecting some pronouncement from him indicating the prospect of a decrease of the vast expenditure for armaments.

He and all his colleagues in the government, he said, lamented the huge diversion all over the world of National wealth into non-productive channels.

THANKSGIVING MASS.

President and Other Officials Attend Pan-American Celebration.

Washington, Nov. 27.—The fourth annual Pan-American Thanksgiving celebration with attendant mass, a service of thankful unity between the United States and the 21 Latin-American republics, was observed here today.

President Wilson, Secretary Bryan and a number of other cabinet officers, all the diplomats from Latin America, Chief Justice White and Justice McKenna, of the Supreme Court, and legislators attended.

St. Patrick's church was decorated with American and Latin-American flags. A dove of peace holding together in its beak the flag of the United States and that of the Pan-American Union symbolized the peaceful union between the Nations of the western hemisphere for which prayers were offered. Cardinal Gibbons was present. Right Rev. Charles W. Currier, bishop of Matanzas, Cuba, preached the sermon.

ONE-SIDED FIGHT.

Referee Calls Fight in 14th Round—Butchery.

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 27.—Jimmy Clabby, the Hammond, Ind., middleweight, defeated Soldier Frank Logan in the 14th round of a scheduled 20-round fight here today. Referee Griffin stopped the unequal bout. Not a single round could be credited to Logan.

In the tenth round Claby dazed Logan with right smashes to the stomach and upper-cuts to the chin. Logan reeled to his corner with a broken nose.

In the 13th Logan was knocked down but lasted out the round. He was ready to quit when he rose for the 14th and there was no dissent from the referee's decision.

DEAD IDENTIFIED.

Learn Who Aviators Killed by Machine Were.

Epernay, France, Nov. 27.—The two aviators who were burned to death when their biplane caught fire yesterday near Chantemerle, were identified today as Capt. Briot, of the artillery, and Sergt. Pouillard. The men were attached to the French army aviation center at St. Cyr, and were flying from the aviation field to the army camp at Mailly.

..Theatrical..

Played with the consummate art that made O. Henry the master short-story writer of America, Norman Hackett with a strong supporting company, presented "A Double Deceiver" twice yesterday at the Academy of Music to two large audiences. Their appreciation was shown by frequent applause that was not merely formal but full of life and enthusiasm.

Al Fairbrother, Greensboro's well known editor and writer, says that "A Double-dyed Deceiver," the short story on which the play is based, is the best proof of O. Henry's genius because while it is utterly impossible for it to have ever happened in real life the plot is so clearly woven that one never thinks of its being unreal or out of the way. The same may be said of the play as played by Norman Hackett and his company.

While Mr. Hackett takes the part of Ambrose R. Fitsgerald the "double-dyed deceiver," with all the ease and grace that could be expected by the most enthusiastic, Herbert Fortier as Thomas Thacker, the United States Consul, also does some deceiving and in such a way as to bring laughs frequently. Miss Ilka-Marie Diehl as Lolita, the Spanish senorita, whom Fitsgerald after going through many trying situations marries, acts her part in a winsome way that is most pleasing.

The entire cast is evenly balanced, and each character is played by the remaining persons of the company in a really artistic manner.

In response to the repeated calls from the audience both in the afternoon and at night, Mr. Hackett made a short speech that was just as clever as his acting. He expressed his appreciation of the warm reception that the play had been given. He felt, however, that the flattering welcome was not so much due to the company's presentation as it was to the admiration for the great writer, O. Henry. He was gratified to have the opportunity to aid Dr. Henderson, Mr. Blair and others of the State in their efforts to build a suitable memorial to O. Henry at Raleigh.

Everywhere in North Carolina a most cordial welcome had been accorded the play, he stated, and it afforded the members of the company much pleasure to be numbered among the workers for the fund. He very cleverly closed his short talk by calling attention to the fact that Ambrose R. Fitsgerald was at that point in much trouble, and would have to get out in the last act.

It will be of interest to Wilmington people to know that the total contribution made to the O. Henry Memorial Fund from yesterday's receipts was over $60. Several literary organizations in the city will swell the fund to still larger proportions.

Big Attraction Next Week.

At the Academy of Music Friday of next week under the management of Joseph Brooks, Mabel and Edith Taliaferro, who are said to be two of the most popular young women on the American stage, will be seen as co-stars in a new play entitled "Young Wisdom," written by Rachel Crothers.

Grand Was Thronged.

To large and, of course, delighted audiences (it's always thus) the cozy, handsome Grand Theatre played yesterday, celebrating Thanksgiving in most festive way. Today it will present a bill that will make a clever and highly successful sequel to yesterday's fine show. And today's big bunch of swell films will be led by the freshest Vitagraph, "The White Feather." It is a story with a punch and plenty of thrills. There is another dramatic today, that is probably the most touching and the sweetest ever created. It is an Essanay's "Thy Will be Done." Mrs. Mulligan adopts the child of a neighbor, who has just passed away, though Mrs. Mulligan is poor herself. The child writes a letter to her mother in heaven and the sequel is indeed happy and beautiful.

And there is a rousing comedy photoplay on today in Edison's "Hiram Green, Detective," which tells of a young "Rube" who learns to be a detective through a school of correspondence.

"Quo Vadis" Comes Today.

Today and tomorrow the Academy will offer the greatest of all moving picture productions. It will be the great photo-drama "Quo Vadis", which cost a mint of money, and four performances will be given.

The first will be at matinee this afternoon, the doors opening at 2 o'clock and the exhibition commencing at 3, and the second tonight. There will also be two performances tomorrow. The price to the matinees will be 25 cents, while the top price at night will be 50 cents. Seats for the evening performances can be reserved at Bunting's.

The Raleigh and Charlotte papers praise the pictures of "Quo Vadis" in most superlative manner and it is well to note that the Richmond Times-Dispatch does the same.

Thanksgiving at Bijou.

It was a big and royal Thanksgiving feast, in the way of an immense and choice selection of moving picture goodies, the popular Bijou served up yesterday, and amusement lovers took full advantage of the opportunity and packed the favorite theatre both afternoon and night.

Today's offering will really be another Thanksgiving show, so far as the importance and brilliancy of the programme go. Another wonderful Warner feature is to top the show. It will not only be the very latest sensation—in three big reels, mind you—but it will offer as the star that clever and charming actress, Miss Gene Gauntier. So a powerful combination is thus offered. The film will be "In the Shadows," and it is not only intensely dramatic and most elaborate in the way of a production, but the story was taken from life, which lends additional magnetism. There will be another big star film on today in Tanhauser's very latest, "An Unfair Exchange."

To Overcome Winter Complexion Troubles

(From Woman's Tribune.)

If the chill air causes your skin to dry and scale or become unduly red or spotted, before you go to bed spread a thin layer of ordinary mercolized wax over your entire face. Remove next morning with warm water. This is the ideal complexion treatment for the winter girl. The wax gently absorbs the dead particles of surface skin, so gradually there's no discomfort. This gives the underlying skin a chance to breathe and to show itself. In a week or so the new and younger skin is wholly in evidence, and you have a really matchless complexion. Naturally, all its defects disappear with the discarded cuticle—as chaps, roughness, blotches, pimples, freckles, blackheads, sallowness. Usually an ounce of mercolized wax, procurable at any drugstore, is enough to renovate even the worst complexion.

Wrinkles need bother you no more, if you'll use this simple face wash: Powdered saxolite, 1 oz., dissolved in witch hazel, ½ pt. Just one application will affect even the deepest lines, and soon your skin will be smooth as a child's.

TOOK FINAL PRACTICE.

Before Big Game of Saturday When Season Closes.

West Point, Nov. 27.—The Army football squad took its last home practice this morning for the game with the Navy in Polo Grounds in New York Saturday. It was the shortest and lightest work out the men have had this season lasting but half an hour. Coach Daly said today he would line his men up against the Navy on Saturday as follows:

Athens, Ga., Nov. 27.—Vice-President E. S. Barnard, of the Cleveland American League baseball club, tonight announced that his club probably will train here during March of next year, provided use of the University of Georgia baseball field can be secured. Objection to the use of the university field is not expected.

KILLED WHILE HUNTING.

Two Boys In Atlanta Shot to Death—Another Hurt.

Atlanta, Nov. 27.—Two boys were killed and a third seriously wounded here today through the careless use of firearms. Charles Brydewell, 11 years old, was accidentally shot and instantly killed by his brother, Briaselle Brydewell, aged 15, while the boys were hunting. John Garst, aged 14, accidentally shot himself through the stomach while hunting. He died while being taken to a hospital. Charles Howell, 13 years old, was accidentally shot in the hip by his brother shortly after the two had started for the outskirts of the city to hunt. The bullet later was extracted and it is believed the boy soon will recover.

Nashville, Tenn., Nov. 27.—The condition of John W. Thomas, Jr., president of the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis Railway, was reported very satisfactory today. No prediction, however, was made as to when he might leave his bed. He is ill with pneumonia.

Southern smokers have recognized in SOVEREIGN the spirit of the new South—Progress. SOVEREIGN stands for better tobacco, better paper, better cigarettes and better enjoyment.

The old Southern brands were good cigarettes—judged by the old standards. But SOVEREIGN has given the South a new and higher standard of cigarette quality.

SOVEREIGN is made of the fine, fragrant Virginia-North-Carolina leaf that Southerners love to smoke. But it is the highest grade of this Southern-grown Old Belt tobacco ever rolled in paper.

Its smooth, mellow flavor comes from ageing for as long as three years, and from the skillful blending of several crops.

SOVEREIGN smokes freely and burns evenly because the cigarettes are large, and well-made—and the expensive imported French paper doesn't smolder and "go out."

The South has never seen anything like the tremendous SOVEREIGN success, because the South has never had another cigarette like SOVEREIGN. "QUALITY TELLS."

SIZE OF THE COTTON CROP

Texas Traders Inclined to Believe it Will be in Neighborhood of Fourteen Million.

Galveston, Texas, Nov. 25.—Steadiness has characterized the cotton market in Texas during the past two weeks and trading has taken on a firmer tone. A general feeling of optimism now seems to pervade the atmosphere of the markets, and there is a sentiment among the trade that higher prices are to be recorded. The market has now advanced to a point where the weather conditions are of little force. The crop is made, and the only factor in the market today is, "What will the crop amount to?" This question is asked by every cotton trader, and none has yet been able to answer it to the satisfaction of all.

Crop estimates, private and governmental, have been seized by the trade with avidity. Some of these have been bearish, others bullish. They have varied widely, yet each was accepted by some members of the trade and heralded as the only approximately correct estimate of the crop yet made. These conditions show that there are two sides to the cotton market—one trying to minimize the amount of the crop to induce higher prices, and the other trying to over-estimate the crop to force prices down.

The actual figures of the estimates have varied from 13,800,000 bales to 15,000,000 bales. The majority of the trade in Texas, however, appear to accept the estimate between these two. They split the difference and accept the mean, placing the crop at about 14,000,000 bales and on this figure speculation to a large extent has been based.

Figures as to spinners' takings indicate an increase over last year, and this has exerted somewhat of a bullish influence in the Texas markets. There is also an increase in the consumption, according to census reports. These give a total consumption during October of 542,809 bales as compared with 513,060 bales last year. These figures of consumption are said to have established a new high record for a single month, and this fact has exerted no little influence. In the face of this it is also shown that domestic mills hold stocks in excess of stocks held at this time last year. All these things taken together are thought to mean that the trade is at last waking up to a full realization of the fact that there is not much cotton to be placed on the market and they must buy at present prices if they buy at all.

Cables from Liverpool have been encouraging and have been indicative of an increased demand and increased business. There seems to be a growing demand for cotton among the spinners and American exports are on the increase. These conditions are being closely watched and form one of the most important influences in the American markets.

It is reported that no high grades of cotton are available in Texas to fill orders. This has forced up prices on good cotton. The cotton that is offered for sale is of the lower grades, having been damaged in the field before picking by the long continued rains. Much of this low grade cotton is moving, however, and it is believed that when it is moved out of the way much of the cotton picked early and held in the interior will begin to move. It is generally believed that this cotton will grade much higher than the cotton that has been moving.

Continued fair weather over most of the belt during the past two weeks has permitted the handling of the crop on a larger scale than before. Much cotton has moved and there is a better showing in the movement to ports. It is believed now that practically all the cotton in the Eastern belt has moved and that the Texas cotton will form the principal staple in the market for the rest of the present season. Movements to ports of the Eastern belt as compared with the movements to ports in Texas will reveal the fact that there is a decided falling off in the movement to the Eastern ports and a decided increase in the movement to ports of Texas.

While the markets have been generally bullish, several considerations have served to keep the bears from asserting themselves too strongly. The estimates were taken as generally bearish in tone, consumption by domestic mills showed an increase; well defined rumors were that a large amount of cotton is due to be taken upon contract for shipment to Liverpool. This last factor has proved exceptionally strong here in Texas, and especially in the Galveston exchange, Galveston being the port from which this cotton would be shipped. Ever since the English houses took up 60,000 bales last Spring and reduced the stock to the lowest quantity on record for the year, talk of shipment of cotton to Liverpool has made the bears feel anxious.

It is generally believed that the Southern holders of cotton hold the key to the situation, and these holders are the farmers. They have held the first cotton picked, and are even yet in exceptionally strong position. They have set their price, and are in position to hold till they get it. They have refused absolutely to be drawn from their places of cover by the fluctuations of the market, not even by advances of more than $2.50 a bale, and sudden drops fully as heavy. They want 15 cents for their cotton, and it seems that they will get it.

The trade in Texas appears more and more to be coming to a realization of the fact that there is not much cotton this year. Receipts have not been up to normal, and the crop is about all picked. Gins in all parts of the State are even now running only on certain days. The cotton that is being held by the farmers is practically all the cotton now in Texas.

At Securing Re-Instatement of Football at Trinity College—Club Makes Statement of Position.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Durham, N. C., Nov. 26.—The Football Club recently established at Trinity College for the purpose of securing football at Trinity has made a statement in the endeavor to set straight a misapprehension which has arisen over the State in regard to the students' motives in their effort to have the game established at Trinity. The statement of the club is as follows:

"In behalf of the students of this institution and friends of the college who desire to see football reinstated here, we feel it our duty to make this statement: We want football at Trinity if it can be secured by any legitimate method. We do not, however, favor or countenance any defiant attempt at securing the game, for we know that if football is re-instated here, it must come through the board of trustees, and that if that action is taken by the board, it must be done by a preponderance of sound reasoning for the game by those interested in football. And we shall attempt to establish this between now and June when the board assembles to transact its official business.

"We have been misunderstood and severely criticised for attempting to re-establish the game here. Trinity has for a long time been without football and without any Fall sport. The students have felt the need of some sport in the fall, and seeing football in almost every college and university of the land, have wondered why it is that we can't have it here. This spirit has been smouldering in the student body practically ever since football was barred from this institution, and only this year has it taken occasion to express itself.

"If we could sit by and have the needs of the student body of this college brought to the attention of the faculty or the board of trustees without any effort on our part, we would have had no occasion to exhibit such an outburst as we did. But those who are familiar with colleges know that such movements must have expression or they will not be felt. We have long remained silent 'hugging the delusive phantom of hope,' thinking that football might some day be voluntarily granted in the college, but realizing that if it comes, we must show those in authority that we really want the game. We have attempted to take a stand as a unit and to let our desires be known to the world at large. We have done this with no defiant attitude to those in authority here, for they have accorded us great consideration, informing us that the permit must come through the board of trustees, and that they would submit our petition to the board. The idea seems to have spread abroad, however, that we are a mob of 'hoodlums,' led by a few fanatics, got together to put football in Trinity in a whirlwind disorder.

"Now, all men in this college knew that it would be impossible to get football here by any such method. The sole purpose of the parade, which has been reported in the papers both correctly and incorrectly, was to show the college spirit here for football. The parade showed that not only did practically the entire student body want football, but that they were not ashamed to let it be known. Nor is the parading of the streets a feat peculiar to the students of this college. All men who know about colleges and universities know that where there is a good college spirit, such demonstrations are not uncommon. Nor is this the first time we have ever had it in this college. Those who have had any connection with Trinity know that car rides, bon fires, parades, etc., were frequent methods of celebrating a big baseball success—and everybody remembers the torchlight parade which occurred when our president was inaugurated. On that occasion the entire student body went all over the city, visited the homes of several of the prominent citizens, and as a reward for this display of spirit were given a holiday on the following day. It was not then thought of as 'mobocracy,' and we believe that the public will not regard it as such.

"We are not fighting against anybody, nor trying to tantalize anybody; we are fighting for football, because we believe it to be for the best interest of Trinity College.

Nothing Yet of Successor.

There has been no meeting of the board of directors of the Coast Line yet to name a successor to President Emerson, but this will probably be done within the next few days. There continues to be much speculation as to who will be selected as head of the system. It is a matter in which the general public is interested and the people will continue to show this interest until announcement of a successor is made. The following bearing on the question of a successor to Mr. Emerson is from yesterday's Times-Dispatch, Richmond, where interest is apparently as great as in Wilmington:

"The sudden deaths on Tuesday of the presidents of the Atlantic Coast Line and Southern Railway companies leave vacant the two most important railway positions in the South, the two great systems having been foremost in the development of the new South. Quite a number of names have been mentioned as possibilities, though nothing definite will be given out by directors of the two systems until after the funerals.

"Members of the board of directors and other officials of the Atlantic Coast Line are gathering in Wilmington to attend the funeral of Mr. Emerson, which takes place this afternoon. That road also has close associations with Richmond. Mr. Emerson attended the annual meeting of the stockholders here last week, and was apparently in good health. The road extends from Richmond to Montgomery, Ala., with branches and connections which take it into every part of the South. It has been an important factor in the development of the Atlantic seaboard States, and in Florida and the Gulf section. Alexander Hamilton, of Petersburg, first vice president, is the acting head of the road. Mr. Hamilton was for many years its general counsel. He is mentioned as a presidential possibility, though his training is legal rather than technical. J. R. Kenly, third vice president, was spoken of as the logical man if the selection is to be made from the ranks, Mr. Kenly having been at the head of the operating department for many years. Henry Walters, chairman of the board and to a large extent the financial head of the system, would not discuss the matter of the presidency last night.

"W. R. Sullivan, assistant to President Emerson until about a year ago, is mentioned. Wilmington dispatches seem to look on Mr. Kenly as the logical man, though some doubt is expressed whether he would accept, as it has generally been thought that Mr. Kenly declined the position before Mr. Emerson was elected.

"Because of the great demand for flowers, which could not be met in Wilmington, a special baggage car was operated over the Atlantic Coast Line from Richmond, leaving here on No. 83 at 1 o'clock this morning, packed with designs ordered by officials of the road and others from Richmond florists."

The following Richmond dispatch to yesterday's Norfolk Virginian-Pilot would indicate that there is a strong belief in Richmond that Mr. Hamilton may succeed Mr. Emerson:

"Richmond, Nov. 26.—Report was current here today that Alexander Hamilton, of Petersburg, will likely succeed the late T. M. Emerson, as president of the Atlantic Coast Line.

"It is not probable, however, that any statements of an authoritative nature will be made on the subject until after the burial of Mr. Emerson who expired suddenly last night at his home in Wilmington, N. C.

"Mr. Hamilton has been general counsel and vice president of the company for a number of years and is generally regarded as Emerson's logical successor.

"He is a brother-in-law of Governor Mann and a father-in-law of Thomas P. Bryan, prominent young attorney of Richmond."

Officers Feel Loss Deeply.

None outside of the immediate family feel the loss of President Emerson greater than the officials of the road, especially those whose duties brought them in close contact with him, and his death has been a blow to them. Mr. John R. Kenly, third vice president of the road, expressed the sentiment not only of himself but of the other officials last night when he said:

"The death of Mr. Emerson was a great loss not only to the Atlantic Coast Line and the city of Wilmington but also to the entire South. While he was pre-eminently a railroad man he was also interested in the general development of the South along all lines. He was generally beloved by all who knew him. I had known him for many years and his death is to me personally a great grief."

Was to be Emerson's Guest.

The Baltimore Sun of yesterday, has this item of interest in North Carolina:

"It developed yesterday that J. Hough Cottman, who was the closest personal friend the late President T. M. Emerson, of the Atlantic Coast Line, had in Baltimore, was on his way to spend Thanksgiving Day with the deceased railroad executive when his sudden death occurred.

"Mr. Cottman left Baltimore Wednesday to join the inspection party in the trip over the Coast Line system as the guest of President Emerson. He heard of Mr. Emerson's death before he reached the party, but has not yet returned home. He will doubtless remain to the funeral, which takes place this afternoon. Mr. Cottman and Mr. Emerson had been friends for years and usually spent their Summer vacations together at some Northern resort."

HONOR JUSTICE LAMAR.

Dinner Given Georgia Member of Supreme Court.

New York, Nov. 27.—At a dinner given by the Georgia Society of New York tonight in honor of Associate Justice Lamar, of the United States Supreme Court, Judson C. Clements, member of the Inter-State Commerce Commission, himself a Georgian, paid an eloquent tribute to Justice Lamar and to the work of the Supreme Court.

Commissioner Clements said that, "time had demonstrated the necessity of very few amendments to our Federal Constitution," largely because "other courts and tribunals, when passing upon important questions affecting rights have the assurance and consolation of knowing that if mistakes are made there is a higher tribunal for their correction."

In expressing the pride of the State of Georgia in her contribution to the Supreme Court of the United States, Mr. Clements concluded:

"I do not think that any man can aspire to a higher office in the secular affairs of mankind than that of a judge who is charged with the duty and responsibility of dispensing justice between man and man, alike to the high and the low, the rich and the poor, with power to stay the hand of oppression and decree that which is right."

HELD WITHOUT BAIL.

Former President of Nicaragua Under Arrest in New York.

New York, Nov. 27.—Jose Santos Zelaya, former President of Nicaragua, arrested at midnight last night on charges of having committed murder in Nicaragua, was held today without bail for examination on December 1st. Pending the arrival of a request for extradition to Nicaragua, he was remanded to prison.

Gen. Zelaya was arrested as a fugitive from justice on complaint of Rober B. Wood, an assistant United States attorney. Mr. Wood charged that a warrant of Zelaya's apprehension for murder had been issued in Nicaragua but did not name the alleged victims. It was said, however, that they were two countrymen slain 12 years ago.

Zelaya asserted that his arrest was the result of a political plot based on fears of the present President of Nicaragua that the exile might return and try to oust him from power.

"He thinks it would be safer to have me go back in irons," said Zelaya. "But he doesn't need to worry, for I have surrendered virtually all my interests in Nicaragua. I had no idea of going to Nicaragua—at least, not for the present. I am not interested in the politics of that country."

LAWLESSNESS EXISTS

In Cabin Creek County, After Signing Peace Treaty.

Charleston, W. Va., Nov. 27.—Sporadic outbursts of lawlessness in the Cabin Creek county since the treaty of peace was signed by coal operators and miners five months ago, have kept Sheriff Bonnerhill and a large force of deputies in the mountains, and culminated today in the arrest of five men, charged with shooting up the little mining village of Dry Branch last Sunday.

Charles Williams, alleged to be the leader, and Robert Hosteen, Russell Hodge, Carl Klush and Boyle Adkins, were placed in jail here for a hearing December 9th.

Williams and his party, according to the deputies, ordered the post master to close his office, and served similar notices on merchants before attacking the town.

SOUTH CAROLINA WINS.

In Series of Debates With Davidson College.

Charlotte, N. C., Nov. 27.—Winning the decision of the committee, two to one, the University of South Carolina tonight triumphaned over Davidson college in the third and decisive contest of a series of debates. The question was, "Resolved, That the commission form of municipal government should be generally adopted in the United States," South Carolina upholding the affirmative. The best speech is accredited to M. A. Wright, of South Carolina, whose colleague was J. S. Dudley. Davidson was represented by H. M. Marvin and C. L. King. Three prominent North Carolina attorneys served as judges. These were Clyde R. Hoey, of Shelby; Frank Nash, of Hillsboro, and W. L. Foushee, of Durham.

FUNERAL AT CLAYTON.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Fayctteville, N. C., Nov. 27.—The funeral of Lieut. Eric L. Ellington, who was killed by a fall from an Army aeroplane at San Diego, Cal., Monday, will be held at Clayton Tuesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, according to an announcement made here today by his brother, John C. Ellington, of this city.

LAUNCH BATTLESHIP.

Emperor of India Afloat in English Waters.

Barrow-in-Furness, Eng., Nov. 27.—The battleship Emperor of India—the last of the four in the British 1911-13 naval construction programme—was launched here today. The construction had been considerably delayed owing to labor troubles at the ship yard so that the new vessel is not of such modern type as some of the ships already launched. She was laid down on May 31st, 1912.

FEDERALS BEFORE JAUREZ

ble indicate rebel progress almost at all points, though the tone of the reports emanating from the war department is optimistic.

A corps of lancers for service against the rebels in the north of Mexico is about to be organized. War department officials say the lance will prove more effective than the sabre now used by the Mexican cavalry.

A dispatch from San Luis Potosi today says trains are running as far north as Vanegas, where the Federal troops are concentrated. Communication, however, is interrupted further north where the rebels are reported to have dynamited some trains.

No New Developments.

Washington, Nov. 27.—There were no developments in the Mexican situation today, official dispatches received being of a routine character.

The attitude of the Washington government continues to be one of patient waiting and so far as is known, no immediate steps are in contemplation.

Sir William Tyrrell, private secretary to Sir Edward J. Grey, the British foreign secretary, said good-bye to President Wilson today. He will leave Sunday for London.

During his visit here Sir. William has seen the President and Secretary Bryan frequently and has been on cordial terms with high government officials generally. He has maintained silence about his presence, declaring only that he came in no official capacity.

The view held by those familiar with the nature of the exchanges between Great Britain and the United States is that the relations between the two governments have ben continuously friendly and that which has been referred to as an estrangement of relations is characterized by them as merely having been misapprehension of the purposes of each country during the Kaleidoscopic changes which affairs in Mexico recently were undergoing. The two governments, it may be said, are now working in close harmony.

May Alter Plans.

Hermosillo, Mex., Nov. 27.—Francisco Villa's victory over the Huerta troops below Juarez may alter the entire plan for a general movement of insurgent troops to the south. General Carranza, head of the Constitutionalists, announced today that he probably would move into Chihuahua State. This would mean the abandonment of his formerly announced plan of proceeding directly south along the west coast into Sinaloa and Tepic.

If the Constitutionalists commander proceeds into Chihuahua, the general movement of insurgent forces would be made south of Juarez and along the central lines of the National Railway the most direct line into the center of the republic.

Details of the fighting below Juarez received here today indicated the complete rout of the Federal troops under Salazar, Orozco and Mercado. Word from Chihuahua City against which it was reported other insurgent forces were marching was awaited with impatience.

BEAR HUNT IN GREENE.

(Special Star Correspondence.)

Snow Hill, N. C., Nov. 27.—Hundreds of men from Snow Hill and farmers of the surrounding country, gathered at daybreak today on the edge of the "Bear Garden," a Greene county wilderness of 5,000 acres, for the biggest organized fox hunt held in eastern North Carolina in years. The huntsmen included a number of lovers of the chase from Kinston. Those following the hounds were mounted, in automobiles and other vehicles, and on foot. The pack was about 50 selected dogs, and none of the hunters was allowed to have firearms because of the danger to the hounds. The hunt lasted until well in the afternoon, when the dogs were exhausted.

The Bear Garden is the home of more game than any other spot in this section, possibly, and quests of Reynard there are invariably successful. Bear and deer are frequently found, and glimpses of them today were reported by several, but the lack of arms made the bagging of them out of the question. Public officials, professional and business men and planters, together with any number of juvenile sportsmen, comprised the small army that pursued the wily fox, and with the crowd entering the "Garden" from all directions as skirmishers, a number of the animals were often flushed at once.

OPPOSE CONFUCIANISM AS STATE RELIGION.

League Organized in China to Fight Its Adoption.

Peking, Nov. 27.—A league to oppose the adoption of Confucianism as the State religion of China was organized here today. Those present at the meeting including representatives of Mohammedanism, Taoism, Buddhism, Roman Catholic and Protestantism.

The Constitution adopted by the Chinese parliament made no provision for any State religion, but a Presidential mandate promulgated today evidently anticipates the selection of Confucianism, whose adherents have been laboring sedulously for some time with the President.

The American charge d'affairs in Peking reported to the State Department in October last that a movement to restore Confucianism was on foot in China. He told of the formation of a great Confucius society led by Dr. Chen Huan Chang and other distinguished scholars. It was reported that great efforts were being made to influence the members of the Chinese parliament.

TWO THOUSAND TEACHERS

Attend Meetings in Lynchburg, Va., Yesterday.

Lynchburg, Va., Nov. 27.—Two thousand teachers attended the numerous sessions of the departments of the Virginia Co-operative Educational Association here today, and tonight many were turned away from Court Street Methodist church in an effort to hear an address by Congressman James B. Aswell, on "Mastery in Education."

The School Trustees' Association adopted a resolution asking the next General Assembly for increased school appropriations of $400,000 annually in the future.

SOUGHT DISMISSAL.

Morganfield, Ky., Nov. 27.—Testimony for the defense in the trial of the Imperial Tobacco Co., on the charge of violation of Kentucky's anti-trust laws, was begun here today. Defendants' counsel sought dismissal of the indictment, arguing that the State had not proved that the acts complained of had been committed within the jurisdiction of the trial court. The motion was overruled.

ONLY WANTS $145,000,000.

Daniels Requests That Sum for His Navy.

Washington, Nov. 27.—Navy estimates Secretary Daniels has sent to the House Appropriations committee ask $145,000,000 for the naval establishment during the next fiscal year.

His estimate is $5,000,000 below last year and yet proposes the building of two battleships at $15,000,000 each; eight torpedo boat destroyers and three submarines. Many details of the estimates are along the lines of the last naval appropriation bill. The House naval affairs committee contains large navy and small navy advocates. A one-battleship programme was successful last session.

The naval affairs committee will meet Tuesday to favorably report the naval militia pay bill and the bill for a council of National defense. Both bills were approved by the naval committee in the Congress. Chairman Padgett will urge their passage in the House during the coming session. The proposed council of National defense would be an advisory body in which the Secretaries of State, War and Navy, chairmen of military and naval affairs of both Houses of Congress, the chief of staff, of the army and certain high officers of the navy would be members. Its functions would be to report to Congress legislation for military defense.

The militia pay bill is designed to put the naval militia on the same basis of relation to the navy as the National Guard occupies to the army. It is proposed to elaborate the present naval militia by which the Federal government would lend aid to the States by appropriations, small ships and detailing naval officers.

New Orleans, Nov. 27.—Johnny Dundee, of New York, led in nine rounds of a 10-round no decision bout here tonight with Charlie White, of Chicago. The other round was even. At the end of the second round White seemed to be in trouble and between the second and third rounds the lights in the theatre where the fight was staged, went out and the house was in darkness for 36 minutes. The fighters weighed in at 130 pounds at 6 o'clock.
